BUTCHERS' UNION MEETS TO-DAY

STANT TALE OF STRIKE.

The Season of Labor Union Balls Now gt Hand-Local and General

the American Federation Labor, now in session in Boston, that has created general interest and comment throughout the world, was the action taken in ist delegates to commit the federation political principles of socialism. The overwhelming defeat of the Socialists was somewhat of a surprise generally, for it was expected that the vote would be much closer. Two years ago at the convention in New Orleans the same attempt was made to pledge the federation to Socialism and the issue was defeated by fewer than 500 votes. However, at the convention last week the tables were reversed and not once did the Socialists have the encouragement of numbers. On the other hand, they were badly defeated by a vote of 11,282 to 2,185. At the close of the New Orleans convention he Socialists were encouraged with their showing and stated that they would carry the Boston convenions of the organized workmen as repretie showed that the locialist element of the body was hopelessly in the minority.

A UNIQUE FEATURE. The fight between organized labor and socialism has been i unique feature of the ican Federation of Labor. The issue came terly throughout the day on the floor of the Boston convention. The firm stand of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, and Samiel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, demonstrate to the Socialists that they cannot of the movement com organized labor and darkened, as far as the American Federapers in his speech in the floor of the convention was very bitter against the motives of the Socialists in Extempting to bring over the federation to heir principles. John Mitchell was likewing clear and firm in his point that politics and organized labor will socialists wednesday calling for the adoption of their principles, but all were reported on unfavor bly by the committee on resolutions. The fight was hot and stormy throughout the day until the vote was taken and the hopes of the Socialists blighted bitterly. Record speeches were made by both Joh. Mitchell and Samuel Gompers, in which the sincerity of the socialists were questioned. motives of the Socialists were questioned.

In the course of his speech Mr. Mitchell said: "I wish to hake grateful acknowledgment to the Socialists for the aid they have us during the anthracite strike. But I wish to deny the statement made by delegate Kraft that the relief committee in he right of every man to believe as he leases. I wish to say that I regard it as very great mist ke on the part of our locialist friends to attempt to commit this believe. It would be a sad day, indeed, if trades unions were made the tail end of a re an impossibility. I have an abiding which in the trades union movement because it is the pretector of labor to-day, and if emancipation comes some time it must be the trades union movement that will achieve it."

CIGAR MAPERS' JOURNAL. cial Journal has been pointed out by local labor leaders as covering well the attitude with trade unionism. The article in part settled without a strike. "The study of the character of a political rganization, calling itself the Socialist party, and demanding the unanimous support if the trade union inovement because of its lleged representation of the wage workers' nterests in the postical field, is interesting rade unions guarting against all opposition, whether it be an organized expression of fanatacism on he part of capitalists or on the part of wag; workers. The first will naturally be avoided because of its open antagonism; the second should be more so because of its pretinded friendship.

"The prime, fundamental principle of trade unionism is solidarity. This no one can deny. If there is anything to be gained at all, if the employing class is to make any concessions to the wage-working class it must be through the wage-workers taking the initiative and resuming a unit of action.

"If it can be proven that the leaders in the Socialist party have attempted in three distinct counts to estroy the solidity of the ade union movement, if it can be proven at the leaders of the Socialist party have dolated this basic principle of trade unionsm, then their pretensions of friendship amount to naught, and their resolutions as-suring the trade utions of their support are othed in treachdy and deceit, which reolves itself into the essence of hypocrisy.
"Not long after the inauguration of the nthracite strike the members of the local orum of the national committee of the Socialist party (since deposed because of their action) issued an appeal to the Socialists for finances to aid the miners in their struggle.

This immediately pet with a vigorous protest from leaders of the party. These men eved that the Socialist party at such a me was not to function as a means for asing strike funct, but whatever finances the United Mine Workers to become secreould be raised should be used for the tary of commerce and labor should Roose-ropagation of the Socialist theory. In other ords, they believed that so long as the miners listened to lectures and read Socialist literature about the co-operative commonwealth all would be well, regardless of their inability to becure bread and butter.

The miner inability to becure bread and butter.

The miner would not be a candidate for president at the January convention of the Mine Workers emanated from Pittsterature that was sent to the strike scene cocted to lessen Mr. Mitchell's influence in the principal one appearing in the Pilgrim, was sent there because of the Socialist zeal to win the strike, but for the sole purpose of organizing Socialist party locals. wisdom has also seen fit to attempt the disruption of the political organizations of the trade unions where such exist. In San Francisco, where the trade unionists have formed a political party, the Socialist partyites are antagonizing and combating Throughout the country to-day the Socialists are advising the trade unions to take political action. They know full well MEMBERS INDIGNANT AT THE CONthat if the unions take this political course independent of the Socialist party, that the Socialist party in opposing them becomes an ally of the employing class in the effort to defeat the trade unions at the ballot box. In this respect they are at least consistent, that is, that whether the wage-workers are fighting an economic battle or a political one it is the duty of the Socialist party to divide them. Will they succeed? think not. Its material interests and the instinct growing out of them leads the wage-working class on to unity.

"The leaders of the Socialist party of to-day, as well as the membership in gen-EATURE of the convention of eral (the leaders can be but a reflex of the membership), have attempted to destroy the unity of the workers on three different occasions within the last eighteen They have proven to us that in the trade union movement they see only an organized body of men who might be used as voting material; that to them the to the attempt of the Socialtrade union movement is only a means to their end; that the trade unions are merely to be used as tools for the attainment of the Socialist party's ideal.'

LABOR UNION BALLS.

This Is the Season of the Year that They Flourish.

This is the season in which the labor unions give their annual balls, and consequently the majority of them are now making active preparations for their entertainments. Points of Interest

What are the "ear marks" that distinguish the clothes made by us from the output of other tailors? Here are a few of them:

The swing and style of the collar—

The grace and life of the lapel—

The shapeliness of the front— The stay-up, don't-sag-away effect when not buttoned— The comfort and expression of the vest—

The fit and hang of the trousers—

The blending of trimmings to harmonize with the colorings of the cloth-each a small item in itself, but these things as a whole produce the results desired by all good dressers.
